

THE HERALD.

JNO. P. BARRETT,
EDITOR.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 8, 1882.

A DELEGATION of the Union Democrats of the State met in Louisville on the 1st inst., and organized a party by placing in the field a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, in the person of ex-Lieutenant Governor Richard T. Jacobs.

REPRESENTATIVE BAILEY, of Shelby county, has introduced a bill taxing all whisky manufactured in the State one cent per gallon. If he will amend by giving the money thus raised exclusively to the school fund, we'll be delighted to see it become a law. We are for the bill, anyhow.

THE REV. GEO. O. BARNES, evangelist, claims to cure persons of any malady if they will have faith and let him anoint them with oil. He claims to have performed marvelous cures. It has been discovered that the oil he uses in anointing is none other than the renowned St. Jacob's Oil, and hence the wonderful cures performed are no longer a mystery.

WHILE in Louisville recently we met our old friend and beyond acquaintance, Ad. F. Mayo, whom we had not seen for eleven years. Ad. has a host of friends in this region who will be glad to learn that he is well and doing well. By the way, he has a position in the popular jewelry house of J. F. Ponder, West side of Fourth Avenue, near Walnut street. He will be pleased to see any of his friends who may visit the city.

WE are pleased to commend to the advertising public and to publishers the "International Advertising Agency," of New Haven, Connecticut, conducted by Mr. H. P. Hubbard. We have had large dealings with this agency, and have no hesitation in saying that it is one of the fairest and most liberal with which we are acquainted. The Newspaper and Bank Directory of the World, issued by Mr. Hubbard, is certainly the finest work of the kind published, as it is the most comprehensive.

WE are under many obligations to Col. C. E. Bowman, Commissioner of Agriculture for the State of Kentucky, for a package of strictly pure White Burley tobacco seed. These seeds will be distributed free of charge among our paid-up subscribers, as will also a quantity we now have on hand, which were presented to us by the well-known house of Shirley & Glover, of Louisville. Ask for the seed when you come in if we don't think to give them to you. We are anxious to give them away at once, as sowing time is now at hand.

WHILE in Louisville recently we heard Rev. George O. Barnes, Evangelist, preach. He is a profound and eloquent orator, and his sermon was very pathetic and sentimental. The following is a quotation from the sermon we heard: The boys occupying front seats on one side the hall were a little noisy. Turning to them he said, "Boys, let up on that racket. This is my appointment, and I will do the talking now. After I am through you can talk. If you will grant this request I will be your humble coal tumbler."

OUR readers can judge from this how grandiose his sermons are. STRANGE things happen. One of them at least took place Monday in the Republican nominating tribunal composed of the select 13. G. S. Fitzhugh was nominated for Surveyor and was not a candidate and hardly known as a Republican, beating a known candidate and known Republican and an excellent surveyor, in the person of W. T. Ricketts. We recollect that but a few years ago Fitzhugh was elected by the Democrats as a Democrat, over Ricketts as a Republican. Col. W. H. Porter, the only Republican ever elected Surveyor of the county, was ignored and his deputy Ricketts actually elected by a man who was originally and until very recently a Democrat of the type that sympathized with the lost cause. Somebody had better start a "McHenry movement" in the Republican ranks to prevent the proscription of Republicans and Union men and the elevation over them of men who sided with the Confederates. From the murmurings we hear, great dissatisfaction exists, and a deep feeling to resent the wrong is expressed and finds utterance in the demand of many that Ricketts shall declare himself a candidate and warm up the new contest.

READ the following after paragraph No. 2 in the "Reply to Mr. Milligan," on first page, and after the words "I would respectfully refer to the accompanying statement of Judge Newton, Mr. C. W. Massie," &c.:

"As presiding Judge of the Ohio quarterly Court at the trial of Jacob Weller vs. John H. Nave, at the last October term of said Court, I paid special attention to all the evidence in the case, including the testimony of the defendant, J. H. Nave—whose testimony was to the effect that he had not given plaintiff Weller the saw-log in controversy, but admitted that he had told Weller that he would give him a tree that would make several fence posts. With reference to the saw-log, I would add that Mr. Weller did not claim that Mr. Nave had told him that he might have the saw-log in dispute, but said that John H. Nave had told him that Nave said so."

BEN NEWTON.

"We were present and heard the trial of Weller vs. Nave, above referred to by Judge Newton, and would state that the Judge's statement above, as to the testimony of the parties Weller and Nave as to the saw-log and fence posts, concurs with our recollection."

AN item is going the rounds that the "Hartford Herald" contains the announcements of twenty-three candidates for county offices. Count 'em this week, brethren.

ALL motions for a new trial in the Guiteau case were over-ruled, and sentence of death was passed on him Saturday, and the date of execution fixed for June 30th, 1882, within two days of the first anniversary of Garfield's wounding.

That Boat Business.

To show the Messenger that we were not "alone in the same boat with the Louisville Courier," we reprint the following from the Nelson County Record:

"Kentucky furnished about 75,000 Union soldiers during the late war, and about 30,000 Confederate soldiers. The latter had nearly all the State, district and county offices, and have full control of the Democratic organization of the State. Although nearly all the white Union men and ex-Federal soldiers of Kentucky have voted with the Democratic party since the war, and although they form an important element of the party, yet in the distribution of party patronage their representative men are seldom if ever recognized. This must not continue, or the party will lose the State, as between the ex-Confederates and the Republicans the Union Democrats hold the balance of power; and should the latter throw off the party which the Democratic organization of Kentucky will be hopelessly split, as it is in Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, the party alone reap the benefit. It is to be hoped that in the future the long-continued services of Union Democrats to the party will be recognized to the end that they shall have no reason to complain; and the true Democratic doctrine of 'equal rights to all and exclusive privileges to none' may prevail in the party and enable it to hold its triumphant majorities."

The above echoes the sentiment expressed by this paper in the beginning, and a majority of the people and the papers of the State who are disposed to be fair-minded are of a like opinion. Some people flatter themselves that the Union Democratic movement will amount to nothing. Perhaps it will not, but it is not based on the prediction that in the near future Kentucky will be a Republican State in rank with Ohio and Illinois.

Col. Wolford for Governor.

A strong and growing sentiment exists in almost every section of the State in favor of Col. Frank Wolford for Governor of Kentucky. We regard it as slightly doubtful about his receiving the nomination, but it is probably worth while to talk about him, as there is certainly none more worthy or who would make a better executive officer. In proof of this, reference is had to his record in the past as a soldier and a citizen. The Hawesville Democrat, speaking of this sentiment as it existed at Frankfort immediately after the Appellate Convention, says:

"The popular enthusiasm at Frankfort and the apparent wish of a large majority of the people outside of Frankfort was decidedly favorable to that gallant Democrat and ex-Federal soldier, Frank Wolford. It was an opportune time for the party to have rewarded this tried and faithful Democrat. His nomination would have been eminently satisfactory to the party. Had the old war-horse made a canvass of the State before the county conventions came off, his nomination would have been a certainty, and his friends would have been justified in thinking that without combinations he would have succeeded anyhow. We are now for the correction of two mistakes that have set back the gallant Wolford, and from this to the day of the next State Convention we shall demand that the party do its duty, its whole duty, and put him at the head of the next State ticket. Frank Wolford will make a good Governor."

The obstacles to be overcome in his candidacy are not many; in fact, but one, and that, as it served to defeat him in the late convention, is not by any means a slight one, but we hope to see it vanish as it deserves. If Col. Wolford were to be elected Governor on the straight Democratic ticket, there would hereafter be no need for a Union Democratic party, and the present movement in that direction would without doubt prove utterly abortive. Give us Wolford, and a united Democracy will be the result, and the blue and the gray in Kentucky politics will be numbered with the things that were.

The McHenry Movement.

It is simply the following of a traitor, as the Owensboro Messenger calls Col. McHenry, or is it the expression of a deep feeling by the Union Democrats of Kentucky, that they are to be regarded by the party in the State as a set of men who are unfit to be run as Democratic candidates in any locality except closely contested districts, and then they are permitted to be the nominees only from policy, and when they attend a State convention they are required to go in meekly and humbly, taking back seats and permitted to vote for a resolution making unanimous the nomination of some man whose claims were urged, solely on the grounds that he was a gallant soldier of the lost cause. Col. McHenry was a soldier, and I presume is reluctant to admit that he was wrong in fighting for his government and for his State, and when he heard Mr. Robertson, of Shelby, in his speech in the Frankfort convention, say that "the Democrats could not afford to nominate any man who was intimate enough with Mr. Lincoln to write him a letter in any subject," alluding to a much later written by Col. Wolford to Mr. Lincoln, claiming his constitutional rights as an American citizen, and when this declaration was made and Col. McHenry saw three-fourths of that body raise their feet, and cheer after cheer, and shout after shout given, such as is seldom heard even in a Democratic mass meeting, it could hardly be called an act of treason in Col. McHenry to walk out of the convention, as he did then—for it was perfectly manifest that any one of the twelve or fifteen candidates could beat Wolford in that body, and the wonder is that every Union man in the house did not also commit an act of treason by following Col. McHenry, when it was simply a declaration to Union soldiers who had fought under Mr. Lincoln, that the Democratic party could not afford to nominate them. It was a public notification of what they, in fact, already knew. Other State conventions had not by words insulted them, but invariably made up whole tickets of men of the lost cause. It is difficult, very difficult, Mr. Editor, for a Union Democrat to act with the Kentucky Democracy and maintain his manhood and self-respect. The McHenry movement does not look to national affairs—it looks to breaking down and breaking up a miserable ground-hog proscription feeling that has obtained in the Democratic party of Kentucky, and in no other else, and in fact, is not kept up by Confederate soldiers, the intelligent and most distinguished of whom are liberal and oppose such feeling and proscriptions of the war to be forgotten, but there is a class of sore-heads who do not fight; some lost their negroes, some their horses and forage, and some think this is the way to get office—such men as Mr. Robertson, of Shelby, and the Editors of the Messenger. They are the men who control Kentucky Democracy—they run the machine, and they are running it hellwards on the down-grade. Let the manly unprejudiced men of the party take hold. No great harm is to be done if we lose a few local offices this summer. The country won't be ruined even if Dick Jacob does beat them. It is a combination of Henry, Moore and Gaines for Clerk. It is only a matter of dollars and cents; no Democratic principle will be violated. The Union Democrats of Kentucky are heart and soul with the national Democracy, and that party will gain strength by its purification here. Let such men as Duke, the Breckenridges, Alcorn, T. P. Hill, Ellis, Rudy, Pendleton, et al come "game," come with the Union Democrats whereby their conservatism and liberality they belong and make Kentucky Democracy a party of principle and not of prejudice.

Postoffice Racket.

Business good. Pretty weather. No deaths. No marriages. Everybody wants Sullenger for Jailer. We are satisfied that he is the right man, and will give him a rousing majority here the 11th of March. M.

Horton Hush.

The Exhibition is dead. Boys, who killed it?

February 6th, 1882.

News is scarce, and but little doing at this place, but if the present weather continues business will be quite brisk. There is a great deal of talk about our community. Richard Austin has two children quite sick with pneumonia, but they are thought to be recovering. The fair at the fairgrounds is a fine one, and time socially in the way of balls. The masquerade at Hugh Roach's was quite a success, and the oyster supper on Saturday evening was a success. We are employed by all, and I hear that there will be a grand ball in town Friday night.

The stove factory is doing but little for want of timber, as the roads are in such a bad condition that no teaming can be done.

Mr. E. L. Sullenger paid us a visit last week, and he is the man for Jailer in this part of the county—at least so say the people. There will be a great deal of interest taken by the voters in the primary in this precinct.

Plains Ridge Points.

FOREST HOME, Jan. 28, '82.

Farmers are beginning to smile, as most of them are done stripping tobacco.

It is scarce in this section, and selling at 80 cents per bushel.

Rev. J. S. Taylor is having a lot of new gates made.

Mr. John Westerfield's horses have the pink-eyes.

Plenty of candidates this week; two more on docket—Thomas S. Taylor, for Sheriff, and Warren Taylor, for Magistrate, both of Bartlett's precinct. Marriage bells are still ringing in our midst. On the 19th Mr. John Jones and Miss Mattie King were united in the holy bonds by Rev. J. S. Taylor, in Davies county.

Bell's Run Church has called Dr. J. S. Coleman to preach for them this evening. He has not accepted the call yet.

Miss Sallie Dobson has taught a very interesting school at the Westernfield school-house. It will close on Friday. We regret to give Miss Sallie up from our neighborhood, but hope she will return again in the fall.

Mr. George Taylor's school will close the 17th of February.

Mr. Marion Yates has discovered a fine vein of coal near his residence, and will be able to supply this community in a short time with plenty of coal.

February 4, 1882.

The river is falling and there is a great number of logs floating every day. Mr. Josh. Benton went to Evansville last week instead of Delaware, and returned Tuesday.

Mar. Stroud returned from Evansville to-day.

Prof. Nunnally has been quite ill for several days past, but is now convalescent.

Mr. P. W. James, one of our leading merchants, made a flying trip to Greenville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Howard, of Greenville, stopped over night in our town this week, on their way to Morgan-town to visit their son, Charlie Howard.

Your agent, T. J. Bunch, of Morgan-town, was in town two or three days this week.

A little row occurred between two of our citizens a few days ago, the result of which was one blow and some fine-spirited thinnings to the town. No deaths.

Our friend, Dr. Wm. E. Irvin, of South Carrollton, was married to Miss Mary in Franklin, Ky., last Wednesday, and the doctor and his bride came to Greenville the next day, and a grand reception was given them by the groom's father, Wm. Irvin, Esq. Dr. Sully Jackson, of this place, was a guest at the reception. They have our best wishes.

Editor Herald:

I have located at my old stand again and thought I would speak to let you know my whereabouts. But go where I will, the familiar face of our genial editor beams from the pages of the HERALD, which is a welcome guest in this part of the county. No. 8 had an introduction to your readers some years ago, so we will proceed to chat like old acquaintances.

Green River has been on the rampage for six weeks or more, and is receding very slowly. It is a pity that the past few weeks have borne so market many a noble raft, despite the predictions of many, who three or four years ago prophesied that days of rafting on "Old Green" were over. But Kentucky's forest timber, like a great many of her other resources, is well nigh inexhaustible. The finest raft of oak logs we have seen is that of Levi Taylor & Son's, cut from their own lands within five or six hundred yards of the river. They have disposed of it at a good price to an Evansville firm.

Farmers are getting ready for their spring work, clearing, fencing, fertilizing and burning and sowing plant beds. From present indications a large crop of tobacco will be planted. That variety known as the White Burley is coming into favor among the growers of this locality. The wheat crop is looking well, and the prospect at present is very flattering for plenty of biscuit in the future.

The school at this place closed some weeks since. The teacher, Miss H. McDaniel, having given entire satisfaction. She is teaching at present at Hope.

Mr. I. S. Taylor, of White Plains, is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity. H. L. Taylor, of Taylortown, accidentally cut his foot by which he was badly lamed.

"Pud," let us hear from Kansas often. Your many friends in this county would be pleased to hear from you every week.

More next week. FELIX.

Editor Herald:

It is so muddy that our citizens can hardly navigate; consequently, not much news.

Small-pox and the Guiteau trial are topics generally discussed by our band of gentlemanly loafers.

Mr. Wm. Lyons, one of our prominent citizens, has gone to Evansville, preparatory to going into business at Roseville, Ky. Mr. Lyons is one of our most successful men; we therefore hope that he may be successful in his new venture.

Mr. T. S. Jeff, one of our noted citizens, has purchased a large tract of land says he is going to farming right away, and will be successful in his new venture.

Mr. J. H. Morrison, acting deputy Assessor, is an elector for one of our neighboring candidates. Go in Jack! Our farmers are preparing for a large crop of wheat, as they are convinced of its superior weight.

Corn is scarce at $1.00 per bu. in this vicinity.

The Exhibition is dead. Boys, who killed it?

I will close by saying, hurrah for T. Jeff, Smith for Clerk, and T. S. Taylor for Sheriff. Give them a rousing majority for their respective offices.

Mr. Editor, your subscription list still increases at this office. More sample copies if you please. Is the wish of CHALICE.

Editor Herald:

As a report is being industriously circulated by one of my opponents that I am Assessor of a portion of Ohio county, was so surprised and indignant that I at once wrote to the assessor, and at the time of taking the last list as to assess for taxation all dogs, sheep and cattle, not omitting the fifty dollars in value of said stock allowed by law to each man, I deem it necessary to say a few words in defense of my record as an officer. It is true that I did the act with which I am charged, but not through any ignorance or fault of my own. At the regular time, I began the assessment of the county in the usual manner, and after I had been at work a few days I received a letter from my principal, Mr. Armstrong Jones, directing me to list for taxation "all dogs, sheep and cattle." These were plain instructions, and I had only to follow them—Mr. Jones, and not myself, being responsible to the people for the manner in which the work was done, when that work was done by his orders. When I had completed the list, Mr. Jones saw what I had done, and I showed him the order which I had received from him, and told him to strike from the list all such property which was exempt by law, and which had been erroneously assessed. Whether he did this or not I do not know; but of one thing I am satisfied, and I believe every fair-minded man will be satisfied of the same thing, and that is this: That no blame or censure can be attached to me for the manner in which the list of the dogs, sheep and cattle of the county was taken by me at the last assessment. I am making the race on the merits of John W. Mosley, and I do not propose for the faults of other men to be dragged into the canvass against me, and I can help it. I have done my duty to the best of my ability, and according to my oath, and by my merits alone do I ask to be judged. No fair-minded man will condemn me for so trivial a matter, and especially when I was acting under orders from another, and I respectfully ask every Democrat in the county to give my claims a fair consideration, and if consistent with his convictions, myself his support in the primary election, March 11th, 1882. If nominated in that election, I propose to make the best possible canvass, and as far as in me lies assure the party success at the polls in August. Should you confer the nomination on me, and should I be so fortunate as to be elected in August, I pledge myself to use my utmost endeavor to make you a faithful officer.

Truly Yours Servant,

Feb. 8, '82. JNO. W. MOSELEY.

The following is the text of a letter received to above:

Mrs. Partridge says,

HARTFORD, KY.,—'81.

Mr. J. W. Mosley:

DEAR SIR:—This year we have to list all dogs and sheep, and we must fix a line on our books for that purpose. Place a full valuation on them as you do on horses. They are not allowed any not taxed—cattle and everything else the same. Do not fail to do this if you do we will be docked by the Auditor. You can put them in the lines for dogs and sheep persons by marking them at the head. They come next to jennets, but as our books are made as they are we have them in cooking. Ask your grocer for it and give it, which you must be sure and do. I was not apprised of this until yesterday evening.

Yours, &c.,

A. JONES.

Editor Herald:

Oh, the beautiful snow! If I were a poet I would write a poem on the beautiful snow, but as I have to content myself with something else I will give you a few items which may be of some interest to your many readers.

The health of this community is very good at present.

The wheat crop looks well so far.

I think I can hear the sound of a wedding bell, but very indistinctly. Will let you know when I can with certainty.

Mr. Samuel Ferguson is having an addition put to his store-house, which when completed will be an addition sure enough.

Mr. Wm. Leach, living near here, is having his dwelling house repaired.

Hurrah for the little boy that caught the big owl!

Where is Nancy Jane Jones? Well, I guess she is not getting subscribers for the HERALD, and so I'll let her go, and let's all subscribe at once and have a chance at those fine premiums which the editors offer so liberally.

More anon. BIG TEXAS.

February 6, 1882.

Editor Herald:

The fearfully rainy and muddy spell has at last given way to a beautiful spell of sunshine, and now we have a grand day. Our sugar men have already made a nice quantity.

The break in the mill here which occasioned so much inconvenience to the people, and especially to Mr. Stroud himself, has been repaired, and the mill is running now all right.

Mr. F. Campbell, father of Mrs. Dr. Sanders, and his two daughters, Lillie and Joe Addie, of Madisonville, are on an extended visit to this place.

Dr. Nestor Barnett, of Besa, has located here for the purpose of practicing his profession. The doctor is a most worthy young gentleman.

The most of the tobacco in this vicinity has been sold; several of the best crops, however, are unsold.

John C. Rowe, of the Point neighborhood, has sold his farm to Mr. Wm. Taylor, and has bought his father's farm, near this place, and will move here about the first of April.

Andrew Perkins has sold all his surplus property and will remove to Owensboro Junction in a short time.

Herbert, oldest son of Dr. Sanders, is just recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. S. J. Fields, living near Equality, who had an attack of partial paralysis several weeks ago, is said to be recovering.

Mrs. M. E. Hatcher has remodeled and very much improved her house, which, when completed, will add very greatly to the appearance thereof. By the way, we have not many more enterprising and managing farmers than Mrs. Hatcher.

Charles Leasure, of our town, will leave us to-day to take up his abode with Capt. D. Duncan, near McHenry. We, that is a number of us, were once lighted and honored Saturday night with a delightful serenade by Messrs. Brackie Rowe, Alvey Tichenor and Prof. Willie Miller. Come again young men.

If any items have been overlooked in this scribbling, it is hoped it will be excused.

PERSONAL.

Mr. W. B. Rowe, of Island Station, called to see us last Saturday.

Mr. W. E. Keeler, of the Elma Insurance Company, Cincinnati, was in town several days this week.

We had the pleasure of a call from Messrs. John Martin, L. T. Cox and G. B. Van Nort, of Rosine, last Monday.

Mr. Job Williams, of Pleasant Hill Church vicinity, has been quite sick for a month past, but is now improving.

John W. and Carter P. Stewart, of Steubenville, are new pupils of Hartford College. They heard at Mr. John Midkiff.

G. B. Exall, special agent for the Royal Insurance Company, Louisville, is in town. He came down to adjust the loss of Lee Fisher, of McHenry.

Mrs. W. H. Maury, who has been quite sick for several months, is at this writing thought to be improving, although but little hope is entertained of her recovery.

Mr. G. B. Wakeland, formerly one of the solid citizens of the county, returned from Texas last week, greatly improved in health and well pleased with the country. He had been absent five months.

Mr. Taylor Stevens, whose leg was broken by a falling tree last summer, and subsequently amputated by Drs. Berry and Baird, left here yesterday for Louisville, where he will have an artificial limb supplied.

We were honored by a visit from Misses Bettie King and Zelamer Gray, of Fordville, last Saturday. Miss King is conducting the school at the Duke school-house, and we hear her spoken of very highly as an efficient teacher.

Dr. Sam L. Berry killed his white bird dog last Saturday. He had hydrophobia.

Mr. R. P. Rowe has just about completed his new building on Market street. He will occupy it right soon.

D. M. Perry & Co's and Hiram Sibley & Co's Garden and Flower Seeds for sale at THOMAS BROS.

Dr. Roger's Vegetable Worm Syrup instantly destroys worms and removes the secretions which cause them. 9-ly

Baker's Pain Panacea cures pain in man and beast. For use externally and internally. 7-9-ly

Rev. W. E. West, of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, will preach at the M. E. church in Hartford next Sunday night.

A. B. Robertson, of Burksville, Va., sent T. E. Richey $5 more for his Pills, and says they are in great demand in the Old Dominion.

Thomas W. Pickering, for many years High Sheriff of Caldwell county, died on the 24th. His funeral sermon was preached on the 25th to a large audience, by T. E. Richey.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done thousands of women more good than the medicines of many doctors. It is a positive cure for all female complaints. Sent to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of J. Monroe Taylor. This house has been established nearly 40 years, and their goods are celebrated for purity and strength. We would recommend a trial of their Gold Medal brands to all who desire superior cookery. 8-24m.

T. E. Richey obtained the formula for his Anti-Malarial Pills, from one of the best physicians of America. For Chills, Biliousness, Costiveness, Sick Headache, etc., nothing equals them. He has sold thousands of boxes; and is now putting them in the stores of the Green River country, hoping his friends will give them a trial. 8-3f.

Jerome B. Wells, formerly of this town, more recently of Elizabethtown, now of Louisville, has sold out and quit the drug business, and is now practicing medicine in partnership with Dr. Cox of Louisville. Remember when you address him now it is Dr. Wells. We predict and wish him success in this new calling.

Mr. Theodore Hively, tobacco and cigar dealer, 109 Seneca street was recently laid up with rheumatism so that he couldn't walk. After liberal use of various preparations he purchased a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, and to his own expression, "It was the first thing to afford him any relief like relief." He has completely recovered by its use. -Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Elder T. E. Richey, formerly of this place, now of Princeton, Ky., is engaged in manufacturing an Anti-Malarial pill that is giving wonderful satisfaction and performing marvelous and radical cures. These pills don't go killing and loading around through the system, but are industrious and attend strictly to business. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, Hartford, Ky., and by druggists in the Green River country generally. Try them and we are convinced of what we say.

Mr. J. H. Weller purchased the house and lot on Locust street last week of J. Edwin Rowe. We guess he means business.

Hall's Vegetable Sillian Hair Restorer is the most reliable article in use for restoring gray hair to its original color and promoting its growth.

Mr. Peter Allen, a son of John Allen, Esq., of Buford, died Sunday night of pneumonia. He was sick but a very short time. He was married and leaves a wife and three children.

Maj. C. C. Oates, of our neighbor county, Muhlenberg, has been quite a deer man in his life, having killed, as he claims, 1,000 of the active animals, besides several that got away.

Loss of memory, universal lassitude, pain in the back, premature old age, promptly cured with Brown's Iron Bitters. It restores lost functions and strengthens the weakened parts.

A little child of Jno D. Holbrook, Esq., was badly burned about the throat and neck a few days ago. The little children were in the room playing, and just how the accident happened is not known.

Estill Duke, son of Mr. I. N. Duke, living on the Sulphur Springs road, a few miles from town, died last Friday night of typhoid fever. Several of Mr. Duke's family have fallen victims to this disease recently.

Charles T. Barnard raised 8,782 pounds of tobacco last year, sold it to I. P. Barnard, Beaver Dam, for 5 cents per pound round, and delivered before the expiration of the year 1881, and received $487 of therefor. What farmer with the same force beat this? Tobacco, it seems, will pay if cultivated properly.

Died, at the residence of Dr. Isaac Foster, in this county, January 26, 1882, Henry Maxwell, aged 27 years. He served all through the war, having begun in the service when about six or seven years old. He had the reputation of obeying the orders of his superiors, and was slightly wounded at the battle of Shiloh. Henry Maxwell was a horse—the one ridden by Col. Cicero Maxwell until he resigned because of ill-health. Maj. Ashcroft then bought him and at the close of the war Dr. Foster bought him for Maj. Ashcroft and kept him till he died. Peace to his ashes! He was an excellent horse. Dr. Foster buried him with military honors.

The Standford Hotel, Louisville, Ky., is now one of the best hotels in the place. It has been enlarged about fifty per cent. during the past year, has a new and spacious dining-hall, a nice reading-room, a very neat and comfortable reception room, an excellent elevator, and is perfect in every respect. The management of the hotel is unsurpassed, the fare good as appetite could wish for, and in every respect the hotel is perfect. It is near the L. & N. depot, where all southern and western Kentucky visitors reach and leave the city, and is very convenient, as it saves back or omnibus fares. In short, the Standford offers more and better accommodations for less money than any other hotel in Louisville. Do not take our word for it, but try it and be convinced.

We called at Anderson's Bazaar several times yesterday for locals, but found the proprietors and clerks all so busy that they could not give us their attention. If the roads get good so people can come to town they will certainly have to employ more clerks to wait upon their customers.

Mr. W. H. Carter, of Fordville, contributed a lot of specimens to our cabinet Monday, consisting of a pair of antlers, a stone bearing a great resemblance to a potato, and a number of petrifications of a novel appearance. Mr. Carter will please accept our thanks. He is a greenbacker and a faithful subscriber to the HERALD.

Dr. W. B. Irvin, of South Carrollton, and Miss Lillian B. Mays, of Franklin, Ky., were married on the 1st inst. Dr. Irvin is a promising young physician, and the bride has the name of being one of the most accomplished young ladies in Southern Kentucky. We wish them a happy life.

And still they come. We are beginning to get down to the good ones now, ain't we? Mr. W. P. Ellis, of Ellis precinct, a good man, well qualified, and true Democrat, is announced subject to the Democratic primary election, Saturday, March 11th, 1882. He hails from the banner Democratic precinct of the county.

We call the attention of our readers—the ladies in particular—to the card of Hogan & Co., dealers in Hair Goods, Louisville, Ky. We have been intimately acquainted with Messrs. Hogan & Co. for several years, and know them to be fair, honest dealers, and they keep decidedly the best assortment of goods in their line to be found in Louisville. Any of our friends that deal with them will confer a favor by mentioning the notice of their advertisement in this paper.

Ladies, your attention, please. One of the premiums in our Gift Distribution is a fine Celluloid Set, consisting of a nice comb, brush, mirror, and satinated box worth $7.50. Some one will get it; anybody would appreciate it. It costs you nothing to try for it. We send you the paper worth $2 a year for $1.50, and give you a chance at all of our nice premiums, worth in the aggregate between $500 and $1,000. Subscribe at once, before the list is closed, for we will close it when we get 2,500 subscribers.

A 13 year old son of Mrs. Wm. Dexter was accidentally shot by another boy last Monday evening, the load of squirrel and duck shot entering the upper portion of the left lung. Dr. Sam L. Berry was called in at once and pronounced the wound very serious, if not fatal. The poor boy was still alive when last heard from. Great care should be exercised, not only by boys but by adults as well, in handling fire arms. Almost every week we record some accident resulting from the careless handling of guns or pistols.

Among the many valuable premiums in our Gift Distribution will be found the finest Violin ever seen in the Green River country? It is a genuine Italian Violin, made by the celebrated Maggini, and is worth $35. We have already received it, including bow and box, and will have it on exhibition soon. Every musician hereabouts should subscribe for the HERALD and take a chance for this superior instrument. We procured this violin through Dr. P. Faulds, 324 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky., who is known to be one of the leading dealers in the whole south and west in music and musical instruments. We have his guarantee that what we say of it is correct.

At the Court House, in Hartford, Ky., on Monday, March 6th, 1882, I will rent to the highest bidder for one year, commencing the 25th of March, 1882, the farm in the vicinity of Rockport, known as the Richard Wright farm. Bond with approved security will be required of the renter.

For free, rapid, healthy and natural digestion, use Ball's Digestive Salt at the table instead of ordinary table salt. By its use you obtain that perfect health which comes from a sound stomach. See advertisement.

Robert Rowe, Sr., has sold his farm near Centertown to his son, John P. Rowe, for $3,500. John P. Rowe has sold his farm in the Point to William Taylor for $2,000, and will move to the Robt. Rowe place about April 1st.

The ladies of Hartford will soon give an entertainment to the two literary societies of Hartford College. A meeting for that purpose was held yesterday at the residence of Mrs. W. F. Gregory. Full particulars and programme will appear next week.

A mad-dog was killed in Hayti, a colored settlement a short distance above town, last Saturday evening. Three other dogs which had been bitten by the rabid dog shared the same fate. About five hundred canines in that same settlement might go the way of all the earth to a good purpose.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

FORD'S SEMINARY, Ohio county, Ky., January 28th, 1882.—1. Why is it that so many of the newspapers of Kentucky seem to have so great a dislike to one General or Colonel Burbridge? 2. Why is it we have in Ohio county a different man for Assessor to the one elected? 3. I have in my scrap book a piece of poetry entitled, "Betsy and I are Out," and have been told that there is a piece entitled, "How Betsy and I Made it Up." Is it so, if so where can I get it? 4. Where can I get "The Moneyless Man," and the reply to it? If you cannot give the information wanted in regard to the above named pieces of poetry, would you please send me a copy of the issue of the Standard of Ohio county, Ky., in which the poem "The Moneyless Man" appeared. Some writers in giving a description of places say it is so many feet above the level of the sea, what is meant by level of the sea, or how find the level of the sea?

INQUIRITIVE JACK.

Answer.—General Stephen Burbridge during the war was military commander of the department of Kentucky, and was a most inhuman monster. By his orders men who never committed a crime were arrested and shot or hung with or without trial as suited the tyrant. His name is held in execration to this day, and especially so by the people of Southeastern Kentucky, where the most of his crimes were committed. The present breeze was raised by Burbridge's breeding friend, one Dr. Owsley, of Shelby county, to Congress man Joe C. S. Blackburn, for aid in securing a Federal office. Blackburn made some very cutting remarks about Burbridge's career and character, which remarks Owsley repeated and Burbridge attempted to refute. The press and the people took up Blackburn's quarrel, and "Butcher" Burbridge was squelched.

2. In 1878 Mr. Armstrong Jones was elected to the office of Assessor over Mr. D. L. Smith, our present Sheriff, by a very small majority, and he continued holding the office until the spring of 1881, when he resigned and Mr. Luther C. Duke, of Rockport, was appointed his successor.

3. Will Carlton wrote "Betsy and I are Out," and it is the best of his many good pieces. We do not know of "How Betsy and I Made it Up," but we once saw a burlesque or parody on the original entitled, "Betsy and I are Again," which was quite humorous, but possessed little other merit. This, however, was no small matter, as "he who makes a man laugh is greater than he who makes him weep."

4. Maj. H. T. Stanton, of Frankfort, Ky., wrote the "Moneyless Man." It is one of the best things yet produced by an American poet, and will never grow old. Do not know where you can get it. It shall appear ere long in the HERALD. There is no "reply" to it that we know of.

5. The earth is in the form of a globe, but it is so vast that any part of its surface is reckoned as a plane or level. The level of the sea is what the world imply, and the height of any locality above the level, is the number of feet, the surface of the earth at the given point is above the level of the surface of the ocean. For example, you might dig a canal from the Atlantic ocean to Pelville and allow the water to flow in as long as it would. The distance from the surface of the earth down to the surface of the water would show the difference in the level of the earth and sea at that place. A more convenient way of finding it is to get a good engineer to make the necessary observations and calculations.

Be sensible.

You have allowed your bowels to become habitually constipated, your liver has become torpid, the same thing ails your kidneys, and you are just used up. Now be sensible, get a package of Kidney-Wort, take it faithfully and soon you will forget you've got any such organs, for you will be a well man.

Home Love.

Home love is the best love. The love that you are born to is the sweetest you will ever have on earth. You who are anxious to escape from the home nest, pause a moment and remember this is so. It is right that the hour should come when you, in your turn, should become a wife and a mother and give your best love to others, but that will be just it. Nobody—not a lover, not a husband—will ever be so tender or so true to your mother or your father. Never again, after strangers have broken the beautiful bond, will there be anything so sweet as the little circle of mother, father and children, where you were cherished, protected, praised and kept from harm. You may not know it now, but you will know it some day. Whomsoever you may marry, true and good though he may be, will, after the love days are over and the honeymoon has waned, give you only what you deserve of love and sympathy—namely, nothing. You must watch and be weary lest you lose that love which came in through the eye, because the heart who looked thought you beautiful. But those who love you, who loved you when you were that dreadful little object, a small baby, and thought you were exquisitely beautiful and wonderfully brilliant—they do not care for faces that are fairer and forms that are more graceful than yours. You are their very own, and so are better to them always than others.

Watch Carefully Your Health.

Are your hands and feet cold? Does your pulse beat irregular? Does your heart quickly palpitate at the least exertion, excitement, or nervous excitement? Does your face often flush from a rush of blood to the head? Are you troubled with dyspepsia, indigestion, or some urinary disorder? Beware! Death may at any time suddenly ensue from apoplexy. Do not delay. Your system needs some true medicinal tonic. Nothing is so good as Brown's Iron Bitters. This excellent remedy will assist nature in quickly regaining her lost hold on health and life. It strengthens every part of the system, and restores the different organs of life to their normal condition. In diseases of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to weaken both mind and body, it invariably works like a charm.

Esquimaux Dogs.

Some interesting details concerning the habits of Esquimaux dogs are given by Dr. Bessel. The instant "halt" is called by the driver the dogs throw themselves to the ground with their fore paws they rise again to stretch, and then lie down again at once. Two Newfoundland dogs, which belong to the Polar pack, gradually assumed similar habits, but before lying down they always turned round and round in their resting-place, like all dogs, except the Esquimaux breed, for the author never saw an Esquimaux dog do this. Mr. Darwin, as will be remembered, has explained this habit of running round before lying down, invariably to be observed in other domestic dogs, as a survival of the instinct of the wild ancestor, which leads him to form a bed in the grass by this means. Every one has heard of the extraordinary voracity of the Esquimaux dogs; they will sometimes snap up a piece of their master's flesh if carelessly exposed. One day on board the porcelain dory, handle of one of the cabins fell off, with the usual square foot of iron attached to it. Five or six of the dogs made a rush at it, there was a momentary struggle, the dogs were hastily driven away, and the dog-knob was already swallowed. The dog that ate it was none the worse nor the handle either, in the end. An Esquimaux told the author that the following were the points to be noticed in selecting a good dog: A broad breast, short ears, strong legs, large feet, low hounds, and a moderately long tail. The tail must not be too near its root, as this shows the loins to be weak.

The House that is occupied by a couple of Ohio giants.

Capt. Martin Van Buren Bates, who lives on a farm near Seville, O., is 7 feet 11 inches high, and weighs 478 pounds. Mrs. Bates is 7 feet 11 inches high, and weighs 413 pounds. It is a difficult matter to convey an adequate idea of the proportions of such a dwelling as the one occupied by the Ohio giants. A door that is six feet six inches high is a large sized opening in the side of a house—that is a dwelling house, not a cathedral. But the doors of the domicile of the Bates giants are ten feet high, and the knobs are nearly as high as the reporter's head. The house was built by Capt. Bates in 1876, and is elegantly furnished. In the main building on the ground floor, besides the spacious hall, the best chamber of the giant, a sitting-room and a parlor. The couch upon which the big couple sleep was made especially for them, and it is a curiosity to look at. It is extensive enough to give the great people room to stretch in, and it looks as big as an ordinary-sized bed. The magnificent dressing-case is also a huge affair, with a glass upon it nearly as big as the side of a house. In the sitting-room is a piano of ordinary size itself, but it is mounted on blocks two feet high, so that the instrument is away up in the air, out of the reach of common folk. There are two rocking-chairs in this room that are so big that of them the same as an infant would clamber up into a "high chair." It is very expensive for the giants to live, as they have to pay such an exorbitant price for everything they want. For instance, it costs the captain $30 a pair for boots. It is a most astonishing sight to come across the two giants out for a drive. City folks with wheels reaching to the second story of a house, used to haul stones weighing tons and tons, can form an idea of the vehicles used. It is pulled by six stout Norman horses, and he has got 'em sure to suddenly meet such a spectacle on the road out in the country. Passing wags have to let the rattle down and drive into the adjoining fields until the giants go by.

Making Flowers from Soap Bubbles.

A pretty experiment has been described by the well-known Belgian physicist, M. Plateau. He blew fine iron wire, so as to present the contour of a flower of six petals. The central ring of the petals are attached is supported on a forked stem, which is stuck in a piece of wood. After oxidizing the wire slightly with weak nitric acid the flower is dipped in glyceric liquid, so as to receive films in the petals and the central part. It is then turned up, placed on a table near a window and covered with a bell jar. For a little first it appears colorless, but soon a striking play of colors commences. In the experiment, M. Plateau describes, the flower continues to show modifications of color for ten hours, when dusk stopped observation. Next morning several petals had burst. The liquid used was of very mediocre quality. M. Plateau recommends preparation of liquid thus: Dissolve a fresh piece of Marseille soap up into small pieces in forty parts by weight of hot water. Filter after cooling and mix thoroughly three volumes of the solution with two of pure glycerine. The solution should be left at rest till all the air bubbles are gone.

ETNAVILLE ECHOES.

Mr. Ellis Whitely, one of our live farmers, has recently purchased a lot of two-year old mules, at an average price of about sixty dollars each. He will certainly make money by this investment.

Mr. James Mercer has been very sick, but under the care of that excellent physician, Dr. M. C. Pate, of Whitesville, he is rapidly recovering. Mr. Geo. Gray, of Virginia, is visiting relatives here and is now the guest of Mr. G. W. Kelly, his place.

Our excellent County Attorney might find something worthy his attention here. "A word to the wise, &c."

A short time ago some young men, calling themselves gentlemen, very greatly disturbed public worship at Mr. Etna. It is to be hoped that if nothing else will lead them to the practice of good manners, that they will be taught a lesson by a very strict school-master—Prof. Civil Law, L. L. D.

Mr. Peyton Taylor recently purchased the farm formerly owned by Mr. Isaac Crow, and is preparing to build a new residence. We regret to lose Mr. Taylor, for he is a good neighbor and citizen. We offer congratulations to the community where he goes. Our loss is their gain.

The candidates increase very much, if the announcement column in the HERALD may be used as data. If they all canvass thoroughly, they would do well to walk and take their driven away, and the dog-knob was already swallowed. The dog that ate it was none the worse nor the handle either, in the end.
